

EMI/ EMC Engineer

Candidates for this position are required to have hands-on experience with EMI testing. This person should be familiar with radiated and conducted emissions and susceptibility test procedure. This person will write EMI test plans and test reports. The candidate should also possess understanding of commercial and military standards.

Job Requirements:

- Minimum Bachelors degree.
- 3+ years preferred in EMI and EMC test environment desired.
- Familiar with EMI/EMC testing.
- Experience with EMI test equipment is required.
- Familiar with Military Standard (MIL-STD).
- Exceptional analytical and problem solving skills.
- Excellent time management, organizational skills, and interpersonal communication.
- A team player and have strong interpersonal skills.
- Excellent written and verbal communications skills.
- Must have legal status to work in US.

Job Description:

- Performs the testing of products and determines compliance to agency standards.
- Systemic approach in the preparation of EMI and EMC test plans, procedures and reports.
- Provides status reports concerning all EMI/EMC activities on a daily basis.
- Ability to independently perform test set ups, operate and adjust test equipment.
- Communicates with customers, marketing, and management to ensure customer satisfaction, continued patronage, and referral.
- Ensures the safety, reliability, and cleaning of the EMI/EMC labs and all its equipment.
- Provides assistance to test production with the repair, testing, and calibration of test equipment.
- Generates test reports.